

BUCKEYE BUSINESS JOURNAL

ISSUE 4 — SATURDAY JUNE 15, 2024

STORMS DEVISTATE NORTHERN BUCKEYE

At least 7 people are feared dead and at least 45 more injured following devastating (pretend) tornados overnight.

The Buckeye Governor is being widely ridiculed for the state’s lack of disaster preparation prior to last night’s storms in the northern part of Buckeye and the lackluster emergency response so far to assist in the clean up.

Despite ample warning from the media, (including this publication) on Friday, the state decided not to sound the emergency weather notification systems in Welsh and Konold Counties.

In addition to the human casualties, more than 120 homes and businesses sustained massive structural damages. According to Welsh Assistant County Engineer Scott Pinto, county and township resources are extremely strained.: “We cannot stretch one more US Dollar to support this effort; we need the power of the state government” Pinto said. “We feel widowed out here in the real world by the state government.”

Editors Note: We’ll wait and see what the state decides to do, but it needs to be a lot of help and a lot of help right now or the Governor’s otherwise stellar record will be tarnished.

A Konold County worker in the early morning hours of Saturday lifting stuff and putting it back down

When asked to describe the sound of the tornado, local man Jesse Thomas said “It went WHOOOOOOOOOO
OOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO
OOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO
OOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO
OOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO
OOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO”

THE LAST HOOAH?

Local NIMBY’s are at it again, seeking to ban chanting while marching in lines across the Buckeye State.

“It’s soooooooooo loud” said local resident Devin Clark. “I’m over here trying to focus on my D&D campaign and they’re all out there chanting and yelling and hollering and doing chants. They don’t even have the charisma rating to pull this off!”

Rumor has it the chanting will soon end with the conclusion of this session of BBS, but some aren’t so sure.

“They come—they chant—they leave—they come—they chant—they leave” said Melissa Schmitt, local Symmes hall Nurse/Doctor/NIMBY. “We think they’re gone...BUT NO! 51 weeks later it’s back! It’s killing my dorm’s property value!”

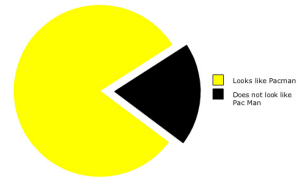

Offenders from a recent march across the capital ground yelling something that this reporter couldn’t make out amongst other people yelling for seemingly no reason.

The Aside

CHART OF THE DAY

Percentage of chart which looks like Pac Man

QUOTE OF THE DAY

“My Mama says that alligators are ornery because they got all them teeth and no toothbrush.”
—Bobby Boucher

FUN FACT OF THE DAY

The green code in The Matrix was actually created from symbols in the code designer’s wife’s sushi cookbook.

LESS FUN FACT OF THE DAY

A mash-up of two words to make a new word (such as breakfast and lunch into brunch, or motel from motor and hotel) is called a portmanteau. In case you’re wondering, the word “portmanteau” itself is not a portmanteau; it’s a compound word that refers to a duel-sided suitcase.

DAN’S WORD OF THE DAY

Gnashnab

CORRECTIONS, CLARIFICATIONS, AND UPDATES

The Louve is Moving... to South Carolina. Womp Womp.	There's still a lotta geese. Maybe we should have let you lethal them after all.	Of course most flags, including the US flag, are not square. Thank you for the 183 people who pointed out the typo in yesterday's edition. There are two that ARE square. Nepal is weird. The rest are rectangles. And another thing... I'm trying my best here! There's one of me! I wrote this at 1130pm on no sleep! Give me a break! Gwararaaaaahhhh!
The BBS Bank, with support from the Dept of Commerce, completed the purchase of the Wolverine Bank for $500M	There's a lot of quinoa and brown rice left. Put some in your pocket to take home with you if you want.
	Don't try to spend BBS checks outside of BBS. It's illegal. Judge Dunn won't be able to help you escape justice.
	If you hear yelling outside your dorm on Saturday morning, it's either the BBS National Guard or your mom.	The Dept of Development is building a $10B stadium for the Beatles, Wiggles, et al.
The Emu has been found! He was hanging out at Garden Commons enjoying some unlimited chocolate milk.	Aaron Carpenter = Guilty of golf cart speeding and so, so, so much worse.	Your counselors play board games after you go to bed. Their favorite is the Hello Kitty version of Scrabble.

OTHER NEWS:

- New TikTok Fad Endangers Mammals— How Can We Get Kids to Stop Heaving Hedgehogs?
- Consultants Call for Ohio Colleges to Create "Out-of-County" Tuition Rates to Increase Revenue
- Brown Rice and Quinoa = How Many Days In a Row Can You Safely Eat It?
- In Response to Rumored Protests in the Buckeye State, MGK to Change Name to "Nerf Projectile Emitting Kelly"
- 404: Headline Not Found
- OPINION: Let's Stop Worrying About if He Could and Stop and Ask Why in the World a Woodchuck Would Have a Need to Chuck Wood

37 YEAR-OLD ACCUSED OF ATTENDING BBS THIS YEAR

A 37-year-old man who enrolled at a local high school and posed as a 17-year-old student to attend Buckeye Boys State for the second time have been arrested along with his mother, authorities said Friday.

"It was fun the first time around—why not do it again when I know the shortcuts?" said Cory Dickman through his attorney Tyler Marcum. "I don't see the big deal."

Mr. Dickman is suspected of attending Bishop High School for the past two years and blending in as he played Water Polo and oboe in the marching band and starring in a one-man revival of the Lerner & Lowe classic Camelot. This was all a cover for the goal of coming back to BBS.

But how did he have the time? Mr. Dickman has been fired from every job he's ever held for being, well, totally insufferable.

"The school system will enhance processes to determine the authenticity of enrollment documents for current and future students as well as modify policy and procedures as warranted," the school system said in a statement late Friday.

(Wasn't this a movie? Yeah, the girl from ET was in it. It was mid)

STOCKS
PARENTS	▲
WORK HOURS	▼
CLEANING	▲
LOTTO WINNINGS	▼
CUPCAKES	▼
AWARDS	▲
PACKING	▲

THANK YOU

Thanks for reading and having fun with the stories this week. Happy senior year!

-The Publisher